Accident Cover

As an employer, you know that the wellbeing of your employees is as important to them as it is to your business. For those employees who are not able to access private medical aid cover, they are left exposed to the overstretched public services that are not always able to deliver the care necessary to support their wellbeing, especially in an emergency.

For many South Africans serious road accidents, violence and societal unrest are a daily occurrence and quality emergency treatment is not readily available to them.

This is why Cinagi developed Accident Cover for employer groups. With our affordable group solution, you and your employees can rest assured that in the event of an accident or public unrest, your employees can access quality private healthcare services for emergency stabilisation and treatment.
